I am a former employee of IBM (). I feel a study should be conducted. My () also was an employee (). My () passed away in () after he retired. His diagnosis was Adult Acute Lukeimia, directly linked to BENZINE exposer. Back in the late 60's early 70's these guys would wash their hands in an open vat of Benzine. In my career I have seen many toxic chemicals in Endicott and have been exposed to more than I care to think. And its all to coincidental but two weeks ago I recieved a letter from IBM that all my employment records conveniently disappeared!..I'm not the only one either, hundreds have been lost off the back of a truck.....
