

CDC-RFA-TO-23-0001 Overview:

Strengthening Public Health Systems and Services in Indian Country

CDC has announced a new five-year cooperative agreement for eligible American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) federally recognized Tribes and regional tribally designated organizations. This program will strengthen the quality, performance, and infrastructure of tribal public health systems, including workforce, data and information systems, and programs and services.

Program Outcomes

Throughout the period of performance recipients will work towards achieving at least one of the following outcomes:

- Improved capacity to develop public health programs and services to address prioritized public health activities in AI/AN communities.
- Improved capacity to implement public health programs and services to address prioritized public health activities in AI/AN communities.
- Improved capacity to evaluate public health programs and services to address prioritized public health activities in AI/AN communities.

Program Strategies

Recipients will address up to two of the following strategies:

- Foundational Public Health Capabilities implemented to strengthen the ability to conduct assessment/surveillance, prepare for and respond to public health emergencies; develop and support policies, communications, community partnership, organizational competencies, and accountability and performance management.
- Data Modernization activities to develop and deploy scalable, flexible, and sustainable technologies, policies, and methods to implement data and analytical capabilities to support the Essential Public Health Services.
- Public Health Programs and Services implemented to strengthen the ability to comprehensively meet tribal public health needs.
- Workforce activities to develop and maintain a diverse workforce with cross-cutting skills and competencies.

Funding

This funding opportunity includes a two-part strategy.

Funding Strategy 1: Initial Funding

Responsive applications submitted under this funding opportunity will be reviewed objectively as described in the Review and Selection Process section of this NOFO. Awards under Funding Strategy 1 will support strengthening tribal public health systems and services.

Applicants selected for Funding Strategy 1 will become part of a group of organizations that are eligible for funding under Funding Strategy 2.

Funding Strategy 2: CDC Centers, Institute, and Offices (CIO) Project Plans

The second funding strategy is subject to the availability of appropriated funds and agency priorities. To maximize CDC's program priorities and health system needs in Indian Country, applicants funded under Funding Strategy 1 will be eligible to apply for additional funding under Funding Strategy 2. Under Funding Strategy 2, CDC will publish and compete CIO project plans according to entity type, HHS region, and/or IHS area.
